Master of Science in

Medical Education

The Master's in Medical Education at Católica Medical School (CMS) is designed to prepare healthcare professionals for advanced roles in teaching, research, and leadership in the evolving field of medical education.

With a foundation in evidence-based, patient-centred care, the programme emphasises creating meaningful learning experiences that shape empathetic, technically skilled, and ethical healthcare providers.

The programme's commitment to student-centred, experiential learning encourages active engagement and skill development through simulation-based learning and case studies. Graduates are well-prepared for impactful careers in pre-graduation and clinical education or leadership roles within healthcare institutions, and they can further advance their expertise through a doctoral pathway at CMS.
